

Made From Effort

PERFORMANCE EDGE TRAINING + GYM DESIGN

RESIDENTIAL GYM DESIGN PORTFOLIO

The room should make training feel inevitable.

Private training environments designed around the architecture, routines, and standards of the people who use them.

01

Strategy

02

Design direction

03

Equipment integration

madefromeffort.com | 516-330-1348 | scottschratwieser@gmail.com

A fitness space that belongs to the architecture.

Performance Edge creates private training environments that feel considered before they feel equipped. The work combines performance planning, spatial strategy, equipment selection, custom fabrication, and the details that make a room easy to use every day.

PRIVATE RESIDENCES

High-performance home gyms that feel like part of the house - not an afterthought in a spare room.

YACHTS + MARINE

Convertible onboard training and recovery systems designed around movement, storage, hospitality, and limited square footage.

COUNTRY CLUBS

Modernize underperforming fitness spaces into amenities members notice, use, and talk about.

COMMERCIAL FITNESS

Clear equipment logic, durable details, and a point of view that makes a facility feel intentional.

The goal is not more equipment. It is a better relationship between the space, the person using it, and the life around it.

A real gym that disappears back into the yacht.

THE BRIEF

Create a credible training and recovery environment on a yacht deck without compromising the feeling of a luxury hospitality space.

THE SYSTEM

NOHrD TriTrainer, a foldable WaterRower, custom Eleiko pull-up bar with a stainless roof bracket, TRX capability, concealed weights, a convertible couch, Chill Bunny plunge / hot tub, and optional virtual coaching with Performance Edge.

Performance Edge originated and directed the convertible gym-furniture concept and the performance brief. Paragon Studio developed the finished bespoke product, leading the furniture design, engineering, drawer integration, equipment fitment, and fabrication.

Result: a deck that transitions between training, recovery, and hospitality without asking the yacht to look like a gym.

A complete training environment inside a narrow footprint.

THE BRIEF

Turn a 13-foot-wide estate space into a private training and recovery room that feels architectural, calm, and genuinely useful.

THE DETAILS

Custom Eleiko and Watson pieces, tailored upholstery, integrated storage, a deliberate circulation path, and Chill Bunny recovery equipment - all resolved as one environment.

The strongest rooms often solve the most constraints. Here, the narrow footprint became the design discipline: every piece earns its place, every sightline stays clean, and the room still feels like part of the home.

High-performance training, kept light in the room.

THE SETTING

A restored barn with an unusually broad wellness program: indoor swim pool, cold tub, hot tub, traditional sauna, steam room, and art room.

THE DIRECTION

These mid-project renders show equipment planned to integrate into the walls and preserve the space's light, airy character while still supporting the highest level workout.

Performance Edge is consulting on the gym and has contributed expertise to several complementary wellness spaces. The renders represent the design direction at mid-project, not a completed installation.

The details are the design.

A closer look at the rooms, equipment, and custom solutions behind the work.

Every image in this portfolio comes from the published Performance Edge project archive.

From performance brief to finished room.

01 DISCOVER

We learn how the space needs to perform, who will use it, and what the architecture already says.

02 DIRECT

We set the equipment logic, circulation, aesthetic direction, and partner strategy before the room becomes a shopping list.

03 RESOLVE

We coordinate the details that make the finished environment feel inevitable: fabrication, storage, surfaces, recovery, and ongoing use.

Planning a private gym that feels like part of your home? Start with the room, not the equipment list.

Performance Edge Training + Gym Design Made From Effort madefromeffort.com 516-330-1348 scottschratwieser@gmail.com